案例

莉娜來臺擔任看護工，在臉書上認識一名自稱JOJO的同鄉移工，JOJO以尚未開通臺灣銀行帳戶且急需用錢為由，向莉娜借用銀行帳戶，以便讓母國家人匯款過來，等領錢後即將帳戶歸還，莉娜在未查證JOJO真實身分下，即把存摺、提款卡及密碼交給JOJO使用。

JOJO取得莉娜的存摺、提款卡及密碼後，即與詐騙集團對阿海詐騙，阿海受騙後將款項匯入莉娜的銀行帳戶，阿海發現受騙報警，警方循線查獲是莉娜提供的帳戶，莉娜被檢察官起訴後，遭法院認定莉娜提供帳戶行為成立幫助詐欺罪及幫助洗錢罪，進而判處有期徒刑2月。

解析

JOJO稱自己沒銀行帳戶可以用，要借用他人帳戶來領錢，很顯然匯入帳戶之資金來源可能是詐騙款項或不法來源

莉娜提供詐騙匯款之帳戶，即淪為詐欺集團幫手，成為詐欺或違反洗錢防制法之幫助犯！

Preventing dummy accounts

By allowing someone else to use your bank account you run the risk of being an accomplice to fraud or money laundering

Case

Lina came to Taiwan to work as a caregiver and met on Facebook a foreign worker who called himself Jojo and claimed to be a fellow countryman. During their conversations Jojo says that he has not yet opened a bank account in Taiwan but really needs somewhere for his family to remit money. He asks to use Lina's account, promising to hand it back as soon as he receives the money. Lina, trusting Jojo and never confirming his identity, hands over her bank passbook, ATM card and password.

After taking control of Lina's bank passbook, ATM card and password, Jojo and a scam gang defraud A-hai, who is tricked into remitting money to the account. On learning he has been deceived, A-hai reports the incident to the police and they find that the account belongs to Lina. After Lina is indicted by prosecutors the court finds that by letting others use her account she is guilty of aiding and abetting fraud and money laundering and sentences her to 2 months in jail.

Analysis

Jojo claims to not have his own bank account and asks to use someone else's account to receive and withdraw money. In such a situation, it is highly likely any remittances are the product of fraud or other illegal activities.

By providing an account that was used to receive remittances from fraudulent activities Lina is legally an accomplice of the scam gang and guilty of aiding and abetting fraud and violations of the Money laundering Prevention Act.

Pencegahan Rekening Penipuan

Meminjamkan rekening Anda kepada orang lain berpotensi menjadikan Anda sebagai kaki tangan sindikat penipuan atau pencucian uang!

Contoh Kasus

Lina datang ke Taiwan untuk bekerja sebagai perawat. Melalui Facebook, dia bertemu dengan pekerja migran sekampung yang mengaku bernama JOJO. JOJO mengatakan bahwa dia belum memiliki rekening bank di Taiwan dan sangat membutuhkan uang, sehingga meminta Lina untuk meminjamkan rekeningnya agar keluarganya di kampung halaman bisa mentransfer uang ke Taiwan. Rekening Lina akan dikembalikan setelah JOJO menerima uang. Tanpa memverifikasi identitas asli JOJO, Lina memberikannya buku tabungan, kartu ATM, dan kata sandi untuk digunakan oleh JOJO.

Setelah mendapatkan buku tabungan, kartu ATM dan kata sandi milik Lina, JOJO bersama dengan sindikat penipuan menipu seorang yang bernama Ahai. Ahai lalu mentransfer uang ke rekening Lina. Ketika Ahai menyadari bahwa dia telah ditipu dan melapor ke polisi, penyelidikan pun mengarah ke rekening Lina. Lina kemudian dituntut oleh jaksa dan diadili di pengadilan. Pengadilan memutuskan bahwa tindakan Lina memberikan akses ke rekeningnya, merupakan tindakan membantu kejahatan penipuan dan membantu pencucian uang. Lina pun dijatuhi hukuman penjara selama 2 bulan.

Penjelasan

JOJO mengklaim bahwa dia tidak memiliki rekening bank, dan hendak meminjam akun orang lain untuk menerima pengiriman uang. Sangat jelas bahwa dana yang ditransfer ke rekening tersebut kemungkinan berasal dari hasil penipuan atau sumber ilegal

Dengan memberikan akses rekeningnya untuk transfer hasil penipuan, Lina telah menjadi bagian dari sindikat penipuan. Lina juga menjadi kaki tangan pelaku aksi penipuan dan melanggar Undang-Undang Pencegahan Pencucian Uang!

Không xác minh danh tính thực sự của JOJO, Lina đã giao sổ ngân hàng, thẻ ATM và mật khẩu cho JOJO sử dụng.

Sau khi JOJO lấy được sổ ngân hàng, thẻ ATM và mật khẩu của Lina, liền lập tức cùng nhóm lừa đảo lừa gạt anh Hải. Sau khi Lina bị công tố truy tố, tòa án xác định hành vi cung cấp tài khoản của Lina đã cấu thành tội hỗ trợ lừa đảo và hỗ trợ rửa tiền nên kết án 2 tháng tù.

Phân tích
